

Thoughts of the Fearless

I was a fool way back in the day
I couldn't do nothing,
Ain't a gal that would stay
I had no skill and on the top of that hill
I couldn't be scared,
Never felt that chill
So father sent me on this journey where
I could finally learn how to fear

I tried everything,
Stole a horse from a dick
He shot with guns
But it wouldn't do the trick
Fought a guy with a knife,
Slept with the sheriffs wife
Not even a ghost
Could make me feel alive
I beat the reaper in a poker game
Never quivered in fear,
It's a shame

Weary, so weary
Ain't there nothing to intimidate me
All I wanted to feel is terror
And trembling knees

But one day happened
The impossible thing
I found the thrill
I've been seeking
I faced that fright,
Felt horror deep inside
It gives me the creeps
When I think about that night
It revealed my deepest fear
'Cause thirty years ago I married her...
